England Must Retain Her Volunteers. The Hon. W. F. Campbell, M. P., for Harwich, addressed his constituents on the 21st of January. He remarked: He would en-gage their consideration for a moment on the volunteer movement. That movement ought not to be discouraged or relaxed in consequence of any new commercial treaty which bound France to this country, or in

ought not to be discouraged or relaxed in consequence of any new commercial treaty which bound France to this country, or in which they were engaged, or in consequence of any mutual esteem and admiration they might feel for one another as nations. That movement was first kindled by the laureate; it was fanned into a wider flame by the press. Lord Eleho, and every public spirited man, by founding the Volunteer Association, endeavored to give it character and permanence. This movement was not undertaken to damage the alliance of this country with France. For his own part, he thought the French alliance advantageous to the country and essential to the world. (Cheers.) If France and England were disunited for any length of time, Constantinople would become Russian territory, and Europe no longer safe. But how could they preserved by an equality of power—by that equality of power—by that equality of power which would prevent France or Britain from engaging in any course calculated to alienate the good will, the sympathy and the approbation of the other. (Cheers.) In the history of the world they never saw a firm and durable alliance for the advantage of other countries except between two Powers substantially equal to each other. (Cheers.) In former times, to balance the immense preponder ance of the French Government by land, Great Britain exceeded it in the number of her line-of-battle ships, her frigates and her gun-boats; that was so no longer, and if France had become their equal on the water, no course remained to them except, so far as possible, to become her equal on the water, no course remained to them except, so far as possible, to become her equal on the water, no course remained to them except, so far as possible, to become her equal on the water, no course remained to them except, so far as possible, to become her equal on the water, no course remained to them except, so far as possible, to become her equal on the water, no course remained to them except would resist it. Nothing remained, therefore, exc was a sufficient vindication of the movement; and he would not scruple to remark that the more closely France and this country were thrown together, the more essential was it to our honor to become a nation of armed men. Well, but it was said that so long as the present Emperor of France was on the throne, and our good ally, no precautions were essential. Far be it from him to disparage that extraordinary person, whatever he had been to other countries, had always been to this an irreproachable ally (hear); but this he would submit to them—
was the Empeior's life secured to them?
Calculations of ambition, along with the impulses of sentiment, would all go to deter him from any rupture with Great Britain, for he well knew that the world was not able to present him with an equivalent ally. If the Emperor of France was, however, led to an attack upon this country, he (M. Campbell) could not help submitting it would only happen in this manner: from our volonly happen in this manner: from our vol-untary weakness in our national defences, or from a spirit of aggression and rapacity which even the Emperor's power was unawhich even the Emperor's power was unable to subdue. That, he (Mr. Campbell) hoped they would prevent. But, as he before observed, was the Emperor's life secured to them? In the event of his death, cured to them? In the event of his death, France would be split into hostile sections, the malignant passions of which the Emperor could now control, but which in his absence would bid against each other in the race of a short-lived popularity in their hostility towards England. He therefore ventured to submit to them that it was not the country are a who pretunded to discount to the country of the country o enough in any person who pretended to dis-courage their arms, to prove that the Em-peror was a friend of Great Britain, unless he could also prove the Emperor was immortal. (Cheers.) But beyond this, on the grounds of foreign policy alone, the volunteer movement might easily be defended, as the honorable gentleman proceeded to de-monstrate. With reference to the volunteer movement in Harwich, Mr. Campbell urged

all who could to join the artillery company already formed there, and he liberally offered to indemnify any of his friends for the time they lost if they felt unable to bear the loss themselves. (Loud cries of 'Bravo!' In conclusion, the honorable gentleman said In conclusion, the honorable gentleman said that on the ground of foreign policy alone, admitting war to be improbable, and even impossible, it was still our duty to provide, in the first place, a Channel fleet, which all the country called for; in the second place, a reserve of gunboats; in the third place, 100,000 regulars in the army, which was not far beyond the present limit; in the fourth place, 100,000 militia; and, last of all, at least 100,000 volunteers. (Loud cheers.)

Gas Monopoly.

In a country adopting a free port system, and consequently a free trade policy, it appears strange that there are those who advocate monopoly. Such, however, is the case here. The Administration has lent itself to secure to Stamp & Co. a monopoly of Barclay Sound, and its acknowledged organ advocates granting to a company the exclusive right to manufacture and sell gas in Victoria. Such acts and doctrines are hos tile to the very first principles of free trade and no protection, and tend to make the many hewers of wood and drawers of water for the few. We have no sympathy with any such doctrines; but want to see added to free ports and free trade the inestimable boon, free land, or the right of free selection to actual settlers in preference to speculators, and no protection to manufactures.

Either the Assembly is thought to be ve nal or gullible, or that the people will sit supinely by and see themselves swindled for twenty-one years by a gas monopoly: without opposing it, or else we fail to perceive the object of the Victoria Gas Company in petitioning for the exclusive right to manufacture gas. If a brewery sent in a petition for the exclusive right to make lager beer, it would be thrown out without any hesitation. Yet there are those both in and out of the Legislature who foolishly imagine that it is right and proper to grant an exclusive right to manufacture gas. If a brewer laid down pipes to conduct the beer to his customers, he would occupy the exact position of a gas company. But because no such thing is usual, and it has to be done to convey gas, the public are expected to view it as an extraordinary enterprise. In the infancy of gas light, it was an experiment, and was deemed necessary to grant exclusive privileges. But nothing is better understood now than making gas; and those who engage in it engage in it like any other business, and consequently it require no protection.

Nothing is more improbable than that the Company expect to wait either two, five, or twenty years for their investment to pay. Within the first six months, they calculate on making a dividend. It they do not, it will prove a very poor transaction and in that sense, it would be very unkind of the Legislature to make such partriotic individuals suffer for the community in general.

Monopoly of any kind, however, is a vested wrong. In plain English, it is cheating the people out of their rights; and any Legislature that lends it force or sanction, violates the authority committed to its The country has already felt the blighting influence of one monopoly. If Stamp's scheme is consummated, as the old one dies out another will be revived. The only other monopoly in the country is the legal profession, who, instead of introducing free trade into law, still cling to their ancient and exclusive privileges of defending the innocent, or discovering convenient holes for the escape of sturdy rogues through the meshes of the law. As before stated, we have no sympathy with monopoly in any shape, whether law, land, or gas. We have none with gas because we cannot discover any corresponding benefit to the community for the franchise prayed for. Giant an exclusive right and the directors will raise the tariff per thousand cubic feet, as high as their customers will allow without recourse to oil or camphene. The tariff could not be regulated by competition, for none would be allowed. The only two courses open would be not to burn it, or repeal the monopoly and indemnify the company. Neither one of these courses suit, Gas is wanted; but it must be manufactured and supplied on the same business prinoiples that any other manufactory is conduoted. Whoever makes the best article and sells it cheapest will have the largest sale. All the privileges that should be granted by the Legislature to the Victoria Gas Company, is the right to see and be sued; and to lay down gas-pipes in the streets. The same rights should be accorded to fifty similar companies were they to offer. So, with equal rights and nothing more nor nothing less, Little & Co. should be satisfied.

STRANGE MEDLEY .- In the Police Court yesterday morning, were four prisoners, representatives of four distinct nationalities and colors-an Indian, a Chinaman, a white man, and a negro.

QUARTER SESSIONS .- On Saturday, pursuant to adjournment, the Sessions met. Justices Langford, Nagle and Pemberton were on the bench. The Court found itself in a snarl. The Attorney General, owing to absence in British Columbia, had prepared no indictments, and the Court had neglected to issue the precept summoning a grand and pettit jury. G. J. Wight, Esq., and D. B. Ring, Esq., moved that their clients be discharged. The Attorney General and Messrs Crease and Drake advised adjournment. After considerable argument and consultation, the sapient conclusion was arrived at The Attorney General promised that the indictments and a jury should be forthcoming on Thursday next, so the Court accordingly adjourned to that day. The neglect of the judges and prosecuting attorney were thus hushed up.

FIGHT BETWEEN AN INDIAN AND A CE-LESTIAL .- Officer Carey, while going his round through Yates street, Sunday evening, observed two parties fighting, opposite Wells, Fargo & Co.'s building. He discovered that the belligerents were an Indian and a Chinaman, and arrested them both. Yesterday morning, they were brought before Judge Pemberton for trial. The Celestial conducted his own defense in an able and dignified manner, stating to the Court that-" Him (the Indian) breakee me windee, me catehee him; me say, no good Mr. Injun; he strikee me once, and skinnee me nose, and kickee me in back. No belly good Injun!" The Indian was fined 10s. for the assault and the Chinaman was discharged.

MORE PUBLIC CISTERNS .- Without the immediate construction of a sufficient number of public cisterns, the efforts of our Fire Department, in case of a visitation of the destroying element, would be almost entirely thrown away. The city needs at least half-adozen cisterns, in addition to the three already constructed, to supply the engines with water in event of an emergency arising calling the department into service. These might be located at different points within the limits of Wharf, View, Broad and Johnson streets,-the portion of the city in which the most valuable property is situated, and the locality in which a destructive fire would be most likely to occur. Thus protected, and the Bill now before the Assembly, prohibiting the use of stove-pipes within certain limits, passed, our citizens might laugh at the idea of a destructive conflagration.

FROM LYTTON CITY. - We have conversed with a gentleman recently from the Forks of Thompson and Fraser Rivers, who says that the traders at Lytton City were quite busy furnishing parties bound for Quesnelle River with outfits. Pack-trains were leaving town daily bound for the New El Dorado. These trains contemplated taking the new route via Hat River. The river from the Forks down is represented to be almost entirely in the possession of Chinamen, the white miners having either deserted or sold their claims and moved further up.

CATHOLIC MISSIONARIES. - The French Catholic Missionary Society are about establishing missions among the Indians on Vancouver and Queen Charlotte Islands and the Northwest Coast. Forty or fifty zealous young missionaries are already on their way here from France, and two Catholic clergymen leave to-day for various points on the Islands and coast, for the purpose of notifying the various tribes of the coming teachers of the Gospel.

THE BARK GLIMPSE.—The arrangements for getting this vessel off yesterday were completed on Sunday, and the vessel moved some eight feet. During Sunday night, however, the lashings gave way, and the casks and spars by which she was buoyed up floated off. It is now the intention of the owners, we believe, to close the holes in her bottom and pump her out.

SOCIAL GATHERING AND DONATION PARTY.-The congregation and friends of Rev. W. F. Clarke design having a social gathering and donation party this evening. t the Congregational Lecture Room, at 8 o'clock. Mr. C. is about leaving this place, and an opportunity is thus afforded all who wish to unite in an expression of respect and friendship.

CHINESE .- One hundred and forty Chinese came passengers on the Panama and D. L. Clinch. Yesterday they were about town purchasing copper and other necessaries to take to the mines, for which locality they will leave on the steamers of to-day. At the rate at which they are going up Fraser river, the Celestials will soon outnumber the whites.

The steamer Julia is expected this morning from the Sound, and will leave at four o'clock this afternoon for New West-

BROACHING CARGO.-Marcus Roe, whom we mentioned on Saturday as having been examined at Honolulu, before the British Consul, on a charge of broaching the cargo of the bark Heather Bell, while on her voyage to this port, was handed over to our authorities on Saturday by the officer of that vessel, for trial. The accused was a steerage passenger, and is charged with having, during the voyage, broken open several cases containing Old Tom Gin, and purloined the contents. He has been committed

RUNAWAY .- Yesterday morning a pair of horses, attached to a large wagon loaded with lumber, took fright at the yard of Sayward & Co., and galloped off up Humboldt street at full speed, notwithstanding the exertions of the driver to restrain them. Near the residence of the Rev. Mr. Cridge, the front wheels parted from the body of the wagon, and the driver was thrown off, but without sustaining any injury. The horses were stopped a short distance JEFFRAY & Co.'s EXPRESS .- The promptitude with which this Express, through its obliging principal, Mr. Wm. Jeffray, supplied us with our British Columbia correspondence on the last trip from Westminster, deserves our particular thanks, and merits public encouragement.

FAVORS .- Our thanks to Mr. J. H. Riley, formerly of the genuine Victoria Gazette, for files of San Francisco papers, De Groot's Washoe Sketches and Map of Washoe, forwarded through Mr. Jacob Herkimer, per bark Architect.

LEFT .- P. B. Whannell, formerly Justice of the Peace at Fort Yale, and famous for his connection with the Perrier and Whannell war in the winter of 1859, which cost the Goveynment a large sum of money, left on Friday last, with his famlly, for San Juan Island. He intends farming in that ACQUITTED .- Dr. Gutman, of Piety Hill. Shasta County, Calitornia, who was arrested on a charge of producing the death of a young girl of that place by procuring an abortion, has been honorably acquitted.

The "PRICES CURRENT."-The second number of this sheet appeared on Saturday last. The list of prices for general articles will prove valuable to our merchants; but its typographical appearance, we are sorry to say, cannot be complimented.

THE "ALPHA."-A little schooner of sixty tons register, bearing the name of Alpha, Capt. Walker, arrived on Friday, from Nanaimo. She was built at Nanaimo, and is the first vessel ever constructed at that place. She reflects credit upon her builders.

CONDITION OF KIMMEL .- The condition of this man is much easier than on Friday last. Yesterday he was removed to his residence. Although the wound is considered mortal by professional men, there is a slight chance for his recovery.

Jeffray & Co.'s Express.

Jeffray & Office of Jeffray THE VICTORIA OFFICE of Jeffrey Co's Express is on Government street, adjoining Musical Hall.

No Light-Owing to the tubes in the lighthouse lamp, at the entrance of the harbor melting on Saturday night last, there will be no light till the lamp is repaired. When that will be no one can tell. Captain Nagle has no funds, and the government will not provide any, to repair the damages and support the light afterwards. It has cost for burning fluid and the wages of light-house keeper $80 per month. It appears strange that so small a sum cannot be raised for so necessary a purpose. Somewhere about $500 a month is received at the Custom House; why cannot a portion of these funds be appropriated to keep the light up?

THE CHAPMAN FAMILY .- This company of "artistes" contemplate leaving this morning by steamer for New Westminster, whither they have been invited to give a few of their choicest entertainments. The "Family" will be the first theatrical company that have ever performed on Fraser river. We bespeak for them a hearty welcome.

DESERTER .- Wm. H. Jackson, a colored sailor, was arrested by officer Weihe, on Sunday, on a charge of being a deserter from H. M. S. Topaz, lying in Esquimalt harbor. The prisoner stated that he had been punished and then sent a shore in charge of a file of marines, as he supposed, with orders to leave the service. Judge Pemberton remanded him for one day to make inquiries.

A CHANGE.—The arrival of the Heather Bell, from London, and the D. L. Cliuch, Architect, and W. D. Rice, from San Francisco, on Saturday, cause our wharves to assume quite a busy appearance, in place of the dull monotony which has prevailed for some time past.

A SEVERE GALE .- The D. L. Clinch lost her main topmast on Tuesday last, during a severe gale, which she encountered off the Columbia river. The Rice and Architect also encountered the same gale, but sustained no injury.

The Beaver will leave at six o'clock this A. M. for New Westminster.

of Boston, already noted for his feats of strength, is practising new exercises. Last Saturday, says the Traveler, he lifted, with his hands, 1.136 pounds, and is quite sanguine that within 20 days he will be able to raise with ease 1,200 pounds.

CITY TRADE REPORT.

Manday Evenino, April 9, 1860.
The arrival of the bark "Heather Bell," from London, via Sandwich Islands, and the bark "Architect," the herm brig "W. D. Rice," and the schooner "D L. Clinch," from San Francisco, with large and assorted cargoes of merchandise, may have the effect of heathing days, the present particularity are is some breaking down the present market prices of some Dreaking down the present market prices of some articles; afthough consignees may feel disposed to retain possession of their goods, in anticipation of heavy orders from above. General trade continues very dull, and the steamers to-day will carry up light freights. We hear of a few sales during Saturday and to-day, and have but little change to note:

My mother! many a burning word
Would not suffice the love to tell
With which my inmost soul is stirred,
As thoughts of thee my bosom swell!
But beiter! should ill express
The passion thus, than leave untold
The glow of filial tenderness,
Which never in my heart grows cold.

Oft as I muse o'er all thy wrong,
The silent grief, the secret pain,
My forward youth has caused, I long
To live my childhoed o'er again.
And yet, they were not all in vain,
The lessons which thy love then taught;
Nor always hath it dorma at lain,
The fire from thy example taught.

And now, as feelings all divine
With deepest power my spirit touch,
I feel as if some prayer of thine,
My mother! were availing much,
And thus availing more and more.
O be it thine in bliss to see
The hopes with which thy heart runs o'er,
In fondest hour, fulfilled in me!

A decent looking Irishman, stopping at a hotel to warm himself, inquired of the landlord, "what was the news?"

The landlord, disposed to run a rig upon Paddy, replied:

"They say that the devil is dead!"

"An sure," quoth Pat, "that's news indade."

Shortly after, Pat stalked up to the bar, and, depositing some coppers, resumed his

DR. ROSENBAUM'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

S THE BEST REMEDY ever yet manufactured for the cure of all Diseases, caused by a disordered state of the Stomach and Bowels.

Dyspepsia, Indigestion,

And other similar maladies, yield at once to the beneficial induence of this excellent Medicine Try them. Test them on your Constitution, and go on your way rejoicing.

CAUTION. Owing to the unexplained demand for these Bitters, some apprincipled parties have endeavored to counterfeit them. The genuine ROSENBAUM have the name of N B JACOBS & CO branded on each cork, and their signature on each label. Beware also of a worthless article, called Rosenour's Bitters, put up in this city. Its external appearance is very much like the true Rosenbaum, but it is useless as a remedial agent, and has only been got up to prey on the repatation attained by Rosenbaum's Bitters. For sale everywhere.
